A person's silhouette is shown from the chest up, facing right. Their face is replaced by a series of horizontal, wavy, and distorted bands of color, primarily in shades of orange and yellow, which blend into the background. The background is a gradient of blue on the left and orange on the right, with a large, bright, circular sun or moon in the center. The word "ôrise" is written in white, lowercase letters across the middle of the person's face.
