

An aerial photograph of a large residential development, Serro 2 The Heights, overlaid with a detailed site plan. The plan shows a complex network of winding roads, numerous small residential lots, and several large, irregularly shaped green spaces. A central water feature, possibly a lake or a large pond, is visible in the middle-left area. The development is bounded by a red dashed line. The surrounding area is mostly flat, undeveloped land with some existing infrastructure like roads and a few small buildings.
